Australian Growing Solutions are the market leader in commercial growing substrates. With more than forty years experience in the manufacture of superior quality horticultural products, AGS have the expertise to meet the changing needs of your business.

Our world class blending facility provides us with the ability to keep all material off natural ground throughout the manufacturing process, eliminating weed and pathogen contamination. The automated batch blender provides our customers with a perfectly blended product, every time.

The AGS quality assurance team fastidiously test material from its raw state, all the way through to finished product, ensuring only the highest quality media is supplied to the market. Our on-site laboratory tests all required physical and chemical properties to ensure that it meets and exceeds industry standards. Australian Growing Solutions is a NIASA accredited growing media supplier with EcoHort certification.

Australian Growing Solutions is able to provide growers with substrates and nutritional products tailored specifically to their crops and growing environments. The technical team at AGS have a wealth of knowledge, experience and education that enables them to provide Australia's leading growers with the best possible advice, expertise and solutions for their crops.
